

Robert Morales – Candidate for U.S. Congress

Born into a family deeply rooted in public service in a small and economically disadvantaged community in Puerto Rico, Robert attended public school and began his career as a teenager—a commitment he upheld both before and after his time at the Inter American University of Puerto Rico, where he started studying for a BA degree in Political Science.

Robert's father, Robert Morales Sr., served the public for over 25 years, setting an example of selfless service. His mother, Evelyn, a single mother who passionately championed family values, left a lasting impact on his life. Her battle with cancer, fought for a year before passing away in August of 2022, profoundly influenced his sense of purpose.

Raised by his 17-year-old mother and his 80-year-old great-grandmother, Alicia, Robert learned the values of self-reliance, personal responsibility, and the importance of preserving cultural heritage.

At the age of 24, Robert has made Raleigh his home, where he lives and works. He makes himself available to stand up for others, advocating for genuine issues and offering solutions for communities, neighborhoods, and the country.

Robert has over 10 years of experience in public service roles and has spearheaded two major emergency responses, recovery and rebuilding efforts, in the aftermath of the largest natural disaster in modern US history. He has also embarked on a mission to strengthen neighborhoods and communities in North Carolina.

He stands behind school choice initiatives, including vouchers and charter schools. We must shield the right to free speech and the right to bear arms from any encroachments by opposing restrictive legislation.

He says we must wage an unrelenting battle for budgetary reform, slash superfluous government programs, cut through bureaucratic red tape, and enforce strict fiscal discipline.

We must ensure border security, streamline legal immigration processes, and ensure that individuals who follow the rules are given the opportunity to contribute to our country's economic and cultural growth.

Alan Swain - Candidate for U.S. Congress

Alan Swain is a veteran who served his country around the world for 26 years in the U.S. Army. Alan now lives in North Carolina with his wife, Doris. Swain retired as an Army Colonel and his wife retired as an Army Lieutenant Colonel (also a retired Special Education/Spanish Teacher).

Alan joined the Army as a Combat Arms Field Artillery Officer. Following a tour in Germany he attended Army Flight training and later flew AH-1 Cobras and AH-64 Apache helicopters.

Swain served across the US Army including but not limited to leadership roles on the Army Staff and the Joint Chiefs of Staff, at the Pentagon, and oversaw the AH-64 Apache $16B Fielding Program, Desert Shield/Storm support, Bosnia Peacekeeping Operations and Kosovo Combat Air Campaign Operations providing updates as needed thru the U.S. InterAgency working with the CIA, Department of State, National Security Council, NATO Military Staff, and the White House Situation Room.

After service, Alan's work in helping to form a small business doing government contracting taught him how to hire good people, make payroll and win government contracts. In a 12 year period they grew the small business to annual revenues of $35M.

Alan has been active in the community volunteering and providing support for many years to include Cystic Fibrosis (CFC) Fundraiser Walks, Special Olympics, St. Jude's Hospital, Food Bank of Central and Eastern North Carolina and is the former President of his Homeowners Association.

Alan secured a Bachelors in Political Science from The Citadel in 1976, a Master of Science in Aeronautics from Embry Riddle Aeronautical University in 1988, and a Masters in Political Science from Auburn University in 1989. Swain is also a graduate of the Army War College and a Jennings Randolph Fellow at the U.S. Institute of Peace.

Deanna Ballard - Candidate for NC Lt Gov.

During COVID, Sen. Deanna Ballard led the charge to reopen public schools, recognizing the disaster that awaited the state and country from the awful decision to keep kids away from the classroom. She went toe-to-toe with Gov. Roy Cooper, former Dept. of Health and Human Services Secretary Mandy Cohen, and the teachers' union, forcing their hand by passing landmark legislation ordering the schools reopened.

The family's strong Christian faith rooted in Biblical values further strengthened her call to trust and obey God in all circumstances.

Having been active in church throughout her life attending youth camps, leading worship or Bible study and traveling on mission trips, she believes service is an act of faith – hearing, believing, and obeying are critical to building up others and speaking truth even when it's not easy.

Christine Villaverde – Candidate for NC Secy of State

Raised in a proud military family, she saw firsthand the bravery of those who selflessly serve this great Nation. She shares our values of family, faith, and freedom. As an Army wife at Fort Bragg, she earned a Bachelor’s degree in Criminal Justice from Fayetteville State University, a Historically Black University. She then worked to earn her Master’s in Public Policy while taking care of premature twins.

As part of the NC Emergency Response Team, she served as the Emergency Manager for NC’s Judicial Branch. She is trained and battle-tested in preventing and responding to any number of emergency situations, including attacks against our critical infrastructure.

As a former law enforcement officer, she understands that Constitutional liberties protect us, that law and order are an essential part of society, and that we must protect our U.S. borders and democracy around the world. As a mother of three, she knows the need for strong leadership to refocus education away from liberal Critical Race Theory doctrines, the need to lower taxes to ensure the quality of life for our families, and the need to protect our constitutional liberties and freedoms that protect the democracy of America.

Jack Clark – Candidate for NC State Auditor

Jack Clark, CPA is both educated in accounting and experienced in auditing. As the only CPA seeking the Republican nomination, Jack is uniquely qualified to start on day one, ensuring North Carolina tax dollars are used efficiently and effectively.

Jack earned a Bachelor of Science in Economics from Duke University and a Master of Accounting from UNC-Chapel Hill.

Jack has worked in both internal and external auditing for large and small companies across the triangle before transitioning to budget policy in the public sector.

Jack resides in Wake County with his wife, Nicole. They attend King's Table Church in Raleigh. They enjoy spending time trying new restaurants and watching Duke and NC State games.

As a former auditor, Jack has a strong understanding of how auditors can help organizations run their financial departments more effectively. While bringing wrongdoers to justice is one priority, Jack recognizes that most public sector employees simply want to perform their jobs to the best of their abilities. Jack's goal is to ensure that these citizens have the tools they need to properly serve North Carolina. Jack would like to remove the historically negative connotation of the word "audit" and instead show everyone how this role can benefit everyday people.

Jack also believes that the State Auditor should be agile and responsive to the changes happening in the audit profession. Jack will modernize the methods and tools used, such as utilizing more data analytics. Jack will also welcome the next generation of accountants with novel ideas to keep North Carolina at the forefront of the audit profession.

Darren Eustance - Candidate for Wake County Commissioner

As the owner of a small business and with over a decade of political and corporate consulting experience, Darren Eustance brings a unique outsider background to the Secretary of State's race.

Darren was born and raised in Western New York State, and became involved in politics at a young age when he saw first-hand the consequences of unfettered liberal policies: an unaccountable and corrupt government, higher taxes, regulations that punish businesses and entrepreneurs, high crime, and ultimately, the decaying of what had once been a great place to live.

Darren moved to North Carolina in 2008 and started volunteering for the Republican Party. Determined to prevent ruinous policies from taking root here, Darren volunteered for local candidates, gave free classes on candidate research and campaigning, and was ultimately elected Chair of the Wake County Republican Party, serving from March 2019 to March 2020. Professionally, Darren started working as a political consultant helping conservative candidates get elected, eventually branching out to work with corporate clients as well. Today he works as a policy researcher for political and corporate clients across the country.

Jacob Arthur - Candidate for Wake County Commissioner

Jacob is a Raleigh native, born and raised. He is a husband, Attorney, US Navy veteran, and most importantly a father of four wonderful children. He and his wife attended Wake County Public Schools, graduating from Sanderson High School in 1997, and three of Jacob and Lisa's four children currently attend Wake County Public Schools. As a public school parent, Jacob is keenly aware of the challenges facing our students, parents and teachers in the Wake County Public School System.

A Raleigh native, Jacob is a husband and father of four. He is a Navy veteran, graduated cum laude from NC Wesleyan College and was in the charter class of Elon University School of Law. He is the owner and works for the Law Office of Jacob T. Arthur. Lastly, he is a past chair of Trustees, Deacon, and Sunday school teacher at Trinity Baptist Church.

I refuse to standby and watch the managed decline of this great county! I do not want to see Wake continue on the path of so many once great communities in this country. It is time for a new voice on the Board of Commissioners. As the Wake Commissioner for District 6 I will fight to lower taxes and get your county government to budget spending priorities, just like you do around your kitchen table. In addition, Wake County has not been immune to the trend of increasing crimes against persons and property, thus fighting to increase public safety will be a top priority for me.

For nearly a decade the Wake County Board of Commissioners and the Wake County School Board have been under single-party rule. During that time we have seen a decline in academics and a rise in discipline issues. 57% of the 2024 Wake budget went to education and over $644.2 million of that was for public schools. It is time Wake residents in District 6 had a representative who will call for accountability from the School Board, rather than writing them a blank check.

As your District 6 Commissioner I will fight to tie specific public school spending to accountability mechanisms the Wake County budget. Wake County Schools need to prioritize academics, discipline, and teacher retention. I will work to end the county providing funds for DEI initiatives and liberal policies that have lowered Wake County Public School's once high national ranking.
